2 a. Read the text. What do these numbers refer to? • 15 • 350 • 10 • 12

b. Mark the statements R (right), W (wrong) or DS (doesn't say). Then, explain the words in bold.

- 5 Shark scientists can find a job easily.

Sharks terrify most of us, but Daniel Weaver, shark scientist, swims with them for a living! We asked him some questions about his curious career.

So Daniel, what's it like to be a shark scientist?

Well, it's an extremely rewarding job. I often travel to faraway places like South Africa and Fiji to study sharks. We attach tags to them and follow them by satellite. Then, I analyse the data and discover new and amazing things about the sharks. It's very exciting! On the other hand, a shark scientist sometimes does boring desk work, such as writing reports. Also, shark scientists don't usually get paid a lot.

What qualities do you need to become a shark scientist?

Shark scientists need to be intelligent and physically fit. They enjoy working outdoors and they have to be calm and patient. They also have to be quite brave!

So do you think it's a dangerous job?

Well, sharks have up to 15 rows of sharp teeth, extremely strong jaws and excellent senses. They also swim very fast! However, sharks rarely attack humans. There are over 350 species of sharks in the world and only about 10 are dangerous to us. In fact, dogs kill more people every year than sharks! Humans kill over 12 million sharks a year for food and sport!

How do you become a shark scientist?

A shark scientist usually studies Marine Science or Zoology at university. It's also good to get some work experience in an aquarium. It's not an easy job, but sharks are beautiful, fascinating creatures. In my opinion, I have the best job in the world!

 - 4 Each lesson lasts
 - 5 Students send their homework
 - 6 The teacher usually meets the students

Speaking

3 Close your books and say six things you remember about the School of the Air.

In Australia, many families live a long way from a town, so the nearest school is often very far away.

For this reason, many children attend a very different kind of school. It is called the School of the Air because the students have lessons over the radio.

Most areas have a school like this for children between 4 and 12 years old. They study at home, but they are still members of a class. The children have radio lessons with their class three times a week. Each lesson is about 30 minutes. Students also have a 10-minute private lesson with their teacher once a week.

The school provides the radio, books, videos and other resources. The children send their work to the teacher once a week. The teachers prepare the lessons and the children's parents help them to do their work at home. Teachers and students also communicate by phone, fax and email and the teacher visits children at home at least once a year.

The School of the Air may sound like a strange idea. For the isolated students of Australia it's the only way to learn.

Writing (an article)

- 4 Portfolio: Find information about a school in your country that is different from typical schools and write a short description of it for your school magazine. Write:
 - how the school is different from other schools
 - how many days a week/hours a day students attend
 - what subjects they study

History's Hall of Fame

udwig van Beethoven was born in 1770 in Bonn, Germany. He was the eldest of three boys. His father and grandfather were musicians.

Ludwig started learning the violin and piano at a very early age. In 1783 he published his first composition. He was only 13. In 1787 he travelled to Vienna to study under Mozart, but returned to Bonn because his mother was dying. After her death he moved to Vienna. He never returned to his hometown. In 1795 he gave his first public performance as a pianist. It was a success. In the late 1790s, Beethoven began to lose his hearing and by 1819 he was completely deaf. It was during this period that he wrote some of his most famous

BEAMISH OPEN AIR MUSEUM

by Steve Miller

- Last week's class visit took us to Durham, in the North of England. It also took us back two hundred years into the past.
- Beamish covers 125 hectares and has two amazing 'little worlds' from the past a market town, railway station, farm and coalmining village, all from 1913, and a manor house and railway from 1825. Visitors can explore each area, watching people acting out the typical daily life of the time. The people's clothes, vehicles, buildings and furniture are all from the period.
- First we walked around the town, with its old-fashioned shops, offices and houses. The friendly museum staff, wearing historical costumes, were happy to answer our questions. We had a quick lunch at the picnic site, then we went on a genuine 1910 tram to beautiful Pockerley Manor. The experience was fascinating, as we had the chance to see what it was like to live in those times.
- We had a wonderful time at Beamish. It's a great place for a day out and I'm not surprised it won the title of Britain's Best Museum in 2005.

Roald Dahl (1916 - 1990) was born in Wales in the UK. He started his writing career as an author of short stories for adults. Then, in 1961, he wrote a story called James and the Giant Peach for his own children. It became a best seller. Several other best sellers followed, including Charlie and the Chocolate Factory. The book is about a strange man, Mr Wonka, and his mysterious chocolate factory, where he makes amazing, magical sweets. His workers are Oompa-Loompas – doll-sized people with long hair, who love dancing and making up songs.

And in the bedroom, by the bed, More books were waiting to be read! Oh, books, what books they used to know, Those children living long 5)! Life in Tudor Times

The six powerful Tudor kings and queens ruled England from 1485-1603. The most famous king was Henry VIII, who married six times and beheaded two of his wives! It was one of the most exciting times in British history, but whether you were rich or poor, life could be very difficult.

- Rich tudors lived in fine houses with many rooms and big windows. Poor country people lived in small wooden houses with mud floors. In the towns, the streets were narrow, gloomy and crowded, which made it easy for criminals to steal from shops and people.
- Wealthy people and noblemen owned land or even helped the King or Queen to rule the country. Most people, however, were poor and worked in the countryside. Slightly richer people worked as craftsmen or merchants in the towns. Tudor shops had picture signs outside to show people what they sold, as many people could not read.

Speaking

5 Give a short speech about Earth Day to the class. Explain how and when it started, what people do on that day and why it is important to celebrate such a day.

1 Did you know that our planet has a special day? Every year, on the 22nd of April, we celebrate Earth Day. On this day, we remind ourselves and others how precious the Earth is and how

2 Earth Day was the idea of American Senator, Gaylord Nelson. The Senator was a sensitive man important it is to look after it. who couldn't bear watching our planet suffer. Rivers and seas were getting dirty, many of our plants and animals were becoming extinct and not many people knew. Therefore, he decided to take action and create a special day to remind everyone that we need to take care of the earth.

3 The Senator started by writing letters to colleges, to inform students and teachers about his campaign. He also wrote an article for Scholastic Magazines presenting his idea about the special day he was planning. He hoped that young people around the country would react positively. Fortunately, they did!

As a result, on April 22, 1970, 20 million people across America celebrated the first Earth Day. People all over the country made promises to respect and look after the environment. Since then, Earth Day has been celebrated all over the planet.

5 Today, on Earth Day people organise fund-raising events, such as concerts, contests, parades, festivals, tree-planting excursions and clean-up campaigns. Children design and make objects at school, such as bird feeders and earth day wreaths and all of us promise to try to turn every day into Earth Day!
