

"Look at my hands. They're the same colour as yours. It's done. Go get some water, wash your hands, and no one will suspect you."

All of Neptune's oceans couldn't wash my hands enough!

"Shh, be quiet! Put on your dressing gown and go to bed. Lord Macduff will be here early in the morning to visit the King. We can't let him see us awake!" The next morning, Macduff arrives at Inverness. Macbeth opens the door. "Ah, my dear Thane of Cawdor!" says Macduff. "I'm here to see the King. Is he awake?"

"Not yet, sir" replies Macbeth.

"He asked me to come early this morning, and I'm not early! Where is he?"

"He's still sleeping" replies Macbeth. "Come. If you'd like, I'll bring you to him. Follow me."

"Yes, thank you!" says Macduff. He walks with Macbeth.
"What a terrible night! The wind was violent, and some say they heard strange screams of death!"

"Yes," agrees Macbeth, "It was a rough night. Here is the King's bedroom. This is where I leave you."
