6.1 Across Africa

Grammar Past Perfect Simple

TRAVELS ACROSS AFRICA

For six hours we shot through the barren landscape of the Karoo desert in South Africa. Just rocks and sand and baking sun. Knowing our journey was ending, Daniel and I just wanted to remember all we had seen and done. He used a camera. I used words. I had already finished three notebooks and was into the fourth, a beautiful leather notebook I'd bought in a market in Mozambique. Southern Africa was full of stories. And visions. We were almost drunk on sensations. The roaring of the water at Victoria Falls, the impossible silence of the Okavango Delta in Botswana. And then the other things: dogs in the streets, whole families in Soweto living in one room, a kilometre from clean water.

As we drove towards the setting sun, a quietness fell over us. The road was empty – we hadn't seen another car for hours. And as I drove, something caught my eye, something moving next to me. I glanced in the mirror of the car; I glanced sideways to the right, and that was when I saw them. Next to us, by the side of the road, thirty, forty wild horses were racing the car, a cloud of dust rising behind them – brown, muscular horses almost close enough to touch them, to smell their hot breath. I didn't know how long they had been there next to us.

I shouted to Dan: 'Look!' but he was in a deep sleep, his camera lying useless by his feet. They raced the car for a few seconds then disappeared far behind us, a memory of heroic forms in the red landscape. When Daniel woke up an hour later I told him what had happened.

'Wild horses?' he said. 'Why didn't you wake me up?'

'I tried. But they were gone after a few seconds.'

'Typical,' he said. 'The best photos are the ones we never take.'

We checked into a dusty hotel and slept the sleep of the dead.

- What is Dannii’s tip for making the long flight to Australia more comfortable?

Dannii Minogue loves travelling the world as much as her sister Kylie, but after working away she says there’s no place like home ...

Melbourne is where I grew up so it obviously means a lot to me. It’s a city that is constantly evolving. Melbourne people, like all Australians, enjoy travelling and their increasing experience of other countries means local tastes have changed. The city has become much more cosmopolitan.

One of the best places to visit is the Crown Casino, which features more than forty eating places all under one roof. Someone told me that in Melbourne you can sample the cuisines of seventy-five different countries; I haven’t managed to eat my way through them all, but it’s a wonderful challenge. And besides the top-class restaurants, you mustn’t miss Melbourne’s vibrant café culture, with wonderful beachside places at St Kilda.

If you enjoy your food, you will love exploring local produce markets. One I really like is the Queen Victoria Market on the corner of Queen and Elizabeth streets, which is open five days a week and sells a huge variety of fruit and vegetables.

My boyfriend joined me for my most recent trip home. It was fun showing him all the familiar landmarks, but also going to places I’ve never been before. From Melbourne, we took the Great Ocean

Road, a 150-mile highway that is a scenic delight. You pass through an area that includes the world-famous Twelve Apostles rock formations, the Otways rainforest and Bells Beach along with resort towns such as Torquay and Apollo Bay. We loved spending time on the beach, as well as visiting vineyards and taking in jazz music. It really was an amazing summer.

That said, we’ve still got a pretty extensive ‘to do’ list, including a trip to Queensland and the Barrier Reef. And although I’ve been to Hayman Island a couple of times, I’d like to get to know some of the more exclusive resort islands that can be reached only by private boat or helicopter.

The flight to Australia is a long one but perfectly comfortable if you follow a routine like mine. I get on board and immediately change into my flight pyjamas – one day I’m going to work out how to accessorise them with fashion items, but until then I just look like someone wearing pyjamas!

I just love to travel. It’s an Aussie thing: as a people we are up for jumping on a plane and going off to explore. I can’t wait to see where I’ll go next.

- 1 family/Australian coast/whale/boat
- 2 Roger/drowning/saved/beach/Alice/beach/husband
- 3 dog/Indiana/3,000 miles/Rocky Mountains
- 4 Karen/beach/ring

Strange things happen when you travel ...

The Johnson family expected to see some whales when they chartered a boat to sail around the Australian coast. But they didn't expect a 30-foot humpback whale to leap out of the ocean onto their boat. Amazingly, no one was seriously hurt, not even the whale.

If you think that's unbelievable, how about the story of Roger Lausier? Aged four, he had wandered away from his mother on Salem beach, Massachusetts and was saved from drowning by a woman called Alice Blaise. Nine years later, the thirteen-year-old Roger was on the same beach when he saw a man fall overboard. Roger saved his life. The man turned out to be Alice Blaise's husband.

Some of the most incredible travel stories, it seems, are about a pet. In August 1923 the Brazier family, holidaying in Indiana, lost their dog, Bobbie, and had to return home to Oregon, 3,000 miles away, without him. Unbelievably, Bobbie travelled across icy rivers, climbed the Rocky Mountains and, six months later, arrived back home in Oregon.

Or more recently, Charlie, a cat who decided to take a nap inside the engine of his neighbour's car and ended up being driven 160 miles away. Luckily for him, he was completely unharmed.

What about the things people lose and find when they are travelling? Rings are top of the list. In Hawaii, Ken Da Vico, who is a professional diver, claims to find about fifteen wedding rings a year in the sea. He returns many of them to their owners. Even if a fish eats the ring, there is still hope. There are many cases of rings being found years later inside the stomachs of sharks, mussels and other kinds of fish. Less common is when the loser finds the lost ring, as happened when Karen Goode went to a beach in Wales and found a ring she had lost there ten years before.

Grammar | articles

Past Perfect Simple

We use the Past Simple to talk about something that happened in the past, e.g. I was ill.

We use the Past Perfect Simple to talk about what happened before that, e.g. I had eaten something bad.

We use it to make the order of events clear.

I was ill because I'd eaten something bad.

We don't need to use the Past Perfect Simple when the sequence of events in the past is clear:

I came home and turned on my computer.

The Past Perfect uses many of the same expressions as the Present Perfect (since, for, already).

Uses of like

As a verb

- To enjoy something or think that something is nice, good or right.
I like fresh coffee. Harry doesn't like swimming.
- To say what you want or ask someone what they want.
I'd like a non-smoking room please.
- To suggest or offer something.
I'll help you, if you like.

As a preposition

- Similar to something or happening in the same way.
He eats like a horse.

We often use look, sound, feel, taste with this meaning.

We can also use look like and feel like with a more idiomatic meaning.

It looks like Rachel is going to be late again!
I don't feel like going.

When like is a preposition and is followed by a verb we use -ing.

- Used to give an example (instead of such as).
Big cities like London can be expensive.
- Used to ask someone to describe or give their opinion.
What's London like? It's enormous.
