

After a while, the woman gave birth⁵ to a beautiful baby girl. But the witch was already at their door asking for the baby.

She took her and named her Rapunzel and, when the child was twelve, the witch locked⁶ her up in a tower.

The tower
had neither⁷
stairs nor
doors, but only
a tiny⁸ window
at the very top.

Once a upon a time there was a lonely couple who longed¹ to have a child. One day, the woman asked her husband to bring² her some salad. He found some in a deserted garden, but a witch³ suddenly appeared and asked for⁴ the couple's first born child in return.
