SUPERHEROES

Reading & Speaking

1 Do you know the characters in the pictures? Who created them? Listen and read to find out.

What does it take to be a superhero? Stan Lee is maybe the best person to answer this question. The creator of Spider-Man, the X-Men, the Fantastic Four, Daredevil, Iron Man, Captain America and the Incredible Hulk, created his heroes to help people who need them.

The Incredible Hulk wasn't like the other superheroes. Most superheroes wore red and blue, this one was green and purple. Lee made the Hulk a scientist, Dr David Banner, who changed into a monster when he got angry.

The Hulk looked like a monster but acted like a hero. He didn't want to hurt people and he didn't talk. He was a good person but people were afraid of him. They hunted him and tried to kill him. Still, the Hulk wanted to help them because he knew it was the right thing to do. The Incredible Hulk was so popular that it became a successful TV series.

TRUE STORIES

The morning of 26th December was warm and sunny on Phi Phi Don Island in Thailand. The sunshine was a welcome change from the wet, rainy weather in London. After breakfast we went to the beach. My parents decided to sunbathe and I ran straight into the crystal clear water. Nothing could prepare me for what was about to happen.

Suddenly, I heard a loud roar. The water under my feet disappeared. I heard people screaming and pointing at the sea. "What's going on?" I wondered as I turned to see a massive wave coming towards me. "Mark, run!" I heard my mum shout before the huge wave swallowed me. I was under the water. I tried to breathe and reach the surface but the force of the water just pushed me down. Then, out of nowhere a hand grabbed me and pulled me up. I gasped for air and looked around. I was in a palm tree with a Thai man. I could see people in the distance running in panic.

I felt like crying but I was too shocked to even do that. The only thing I could do was to sit and watch, unable to move. The hours passed slowly. Suddenly, the Thai man started shouting and pointing to a helicopter. The pilot saw us and came to rescue us. Half an hour later we were safe in the hills. There were a lot of people there. I felt lonely and lost. "Mark, you're safe," I heard my mum's voice say. I don't remember feeling more relieved in my life than at that moment.

Two days later we left the island. We felt lucky to be alive but we were sorry for the locals that lost their homes. It was a terrible experience.

You probably can't imagine being caught up in the middle of a tornado, a hurricane or a flood, but don't be so sure that it could never happen to you! We spoke to John about his experience ...

Are you afraid of water? Well, John is! He had terrible 5 nightmares about drowning. "In the nightmares there was always heavy rain," he said, "and then water swept me away. I desperately shouted for help but no one ever came. I woke up very scared, but happy that it was just a bad dream." Last year, while John was on holiday in 10 Cornwall, his horrible dreams came true! One morning, he decided to go for a cup of tea in the village. On his way, he went into a little shop to buy some postcards. As he entered the shop, it started to rain heavily. "Nice weather for ducks," said the lady in the shop. "I hope the river 15 doesn't burst its banks again like last year," she added. John opened the door to leave the shop but as soon as he stepped out, water swept him off his feet and washed him down the road. "Oh no! The river!" he thought, terrified. Then suddenly, he hit a lamppost. 20 He quickly grabbed it and pulled himself out of the water. He was wet and cold but very relieved to be alive!

Sequence of events

Write the events in the order they happened. This helps the reader follow your story.

My sister Susan and I were in the garden playing with our neighbours' dog last Saturday afternoon 1) Minutes later, it began to rain heavily 2)

Mum asked us to close all the windows. Just as I shut the window in the kitchen, I heard a loud noise. It sounded like a train. Dad took us to the basement 3) From there, we could hear the strong wind outside. All of a sudden, we heard a loud crashing noise and my sister started to cry. We tried to calm her down 4)

After a few minutes, the wind stopped and everything was quiet. We slowly made our way up from the basement. The house was full of glass from the broken windows. The real damage was outside though. There were trees on the streets and damaged cars all over. Our neighbours were very worried 5) We searched everywhere and finally found him behind some bushes.

It was a horrible experience and we were relieved it was over. At least we were all OK. (Laura, 15)

Perhaps the best way to spend a cold, winter night in Ireland is to enjoy the company of a ‘seanchai’, a storyteller. Ireland has great stories to tell.

Myths and legends are stories about giants, warriors and kings. They are tales of heroes who overcome¹ great obstacles, fight with magical beasts and have incredible² adventures. One such legend is the story of Finn Mac Cumhail and his group of warriors, the Fianna, who protected the high kings of Ireland.

Folk tales entertain³ people while teaching them moral values⁴. These stories are about very unusual characters such as fairies and elves. The most popular are the leprechauns. Their name means ‘small body’. They make shoes and have a hidden pot of gold. As legend has it, if you catch a leprechaun, it must tell you where the pot of gold is. But be careful! It will try to trick you into looking away for a second, and then it will disappear!

 John: What on earth was it?
 Penny: Everyone was around the fountain and they all looked really scared.
 John: Oh my goodness! What was going on? Did someone fall in the water?
 Penny: Not someone, but something. There was a long orange snake with black stripes swimming around in it.
 John: Oh dear! Was anyone hurt?
 Penny: No. The guards caught it quickly and put it back in its cage.
 John: Imagine that! You don't see that every day, do you?

Literature

(A)

Oscar Wilde (1854-1900) was a popular Irish poet, novelist and dramatist. His most famous works include 'The Picture of Dorian Gray' and 'The Importance of Being Earnest', as well as some excellent short stories like 'The Canterville Ghost'. This story is about an American ambassador and his family who buy a haunted house.

The Canterville Ghost

(B)

At eleven o'clock the family went to bed, and by half-past all the lights were out. Some time after, Mr Otis woke up because of a noise outside his room. It sounded like the clank of metal. He got up at once, struck a match and looked at the time. It was exactly one o'clock. Mr Otis was quite calm. The strange noise continued, and with it he heard the sound of footsteps. He put on his slippers, took a small bottle out of his dressing case and opened the door. Right in front of him he saw an old man. He looked terrible. His eyes were red. His hair was long and grey. His clothes were old-fashioned and dirty, and there were handcuffs and rusty chains on his wrists and ankles.

"My dear sir," said Mr Otis, "those chains need oiling. Here take this small bottle of lubricant. I will leave it here for you and I will give you more if you need it." With these words the ambassador put the bottle down on a marble table, and went back to bed, closing the door behind him.

Reading & Listening

1 Do gestures suggest the same feelings all around the world?

👂 Listen and read to find out. Label the pictures with phrases from the text.

Body talk

Are you going on holiday abroad this year? Are you thinking about learning a few phrases to get by? Well, you should learn a little about gestures too, because what you say with your head and hands at home can mean something completely different in another country. Imagine this:

- You're hugging your friend in the street in Tokyo when you see a Japanese person smiling and you smile back. Did you know that the Japanese may smile when they are angry or confused and that kissing or hugging in public is unacceptable in Japan?
- You are in China and your friend is introducing you to her father. He stands opposite you, holding his right hand in a fist against his left palm and nodding slightly. You feel nervous. Have you done something wrong? A clenched fist almost always suggests anger. Well, in China this gesture is a polite way to greet someone.

- You are in Thailand. You're sitting on a bus with the soles of your shoes showing. Whoops! Be careful. This is insulting.
- You're invited to a family meal in Greece. You're deep in conversation with your friend and you nod your head to show you agree, as all English people do. However, he looks confused and a little surprised. That's because in Greece people nod their head to say 'no' while the English shake their head to say exactly the same thing!

The world of gestures can be very confusing. A harmless gesture in one country can be a terrible insult in another. So when you are abroad, be very aware of what you are saying with your body!

2 a) Read again and complete the sentences.

- 1 A Japanese person can be insulted if
- 2 To greet someone in China,
- 3 If a Thai sees the soles of your shoes showing, he'll be
- 4 If a Greek nods his head, he
- 5 While travelling abroad we should be careful how

b) Explain the underlined words. Then make sentences using them.

c) Demonstrate gestures from your country. Explain what they mean.

Grammar

- Present simple – present continuous

3 Study the table. Find examples in the text on p. 10.

We use the present simple

- for habits/routines. He walks to work.
- for timetables. The train arrives at 7:00 pm.

We use the present continuous

- for actions happening now or around the time of speaking. They are watching TV now.
- for fixed future arrangements. We're having a party this Sunday.
- for annoying actions. He's always biting his nails.

Some verbs do not have continuous tenses because they describe a state not an action (like, hate, believe, etc). He likes tennis. Some verbs can have continuous tenses but with a difference in meaning. I think he's lying. (= believe) I'm thinking of going out. (= considering)

4 Put the verbs in brackets into the present simple or the present continuous.

BODY language

The postman 1) (come) every day at 8 am and 2) (deliver) the post. Normally, you 3) (not pay) much attention. Today, though, your palms 4) (sweat), your heart 5) (race) and you have butterflies in your stomach. Today you 6) (wait) for your exam results. When we 7) (be) in a stressful situation our bodies react. Even if we 8) (try) to hide our feelings on the inside, our bodies show them on the outside. The same is true for happy, sad or frustrating situations. Let's say you open your results and they are fantastic. Now, you 9) (smile), your eyes are wide open and your cheeks are red. You are happy because you know you 10) (go) to college in September and your body can't hide it.

5 Put the verbs in brackets into the correct tense. Compare with a partner.

- A: When (Tim and Lyn/come) back from their holiday?
B: School (start) on the 15th, so a week before that.
- A: What time (he/finish) work?
B: He (leave) at 7:00 but today he (work) overtime.
- A: (you/drive)?
B: I (learn). I (take) lessons at the moment.
- A: Oh no! I (not/know) where my keys are.
B: Not again. You (always/lose) them.
- A: Sue (look) for a new flat at the moment.
B: Yes, she (see) one this afternoon.

6 Use the notes to act out short exchanges.

bus leaves 5:00

4:30

concert starts
9:30
leave house 8:00

film starts 8:00
meet outside cinema
7:45

ballet lesson finishes 6:00
pick you up 6:15

- A: What time does the bus leave?
B: It leaves at 5:00, so we're meeting at the station at 4:30.

7 Work in pairs. Tell your partner: one thing that is happening now, one thing you usually do, one thing you are doing tomorrow, one thing that annoys you, a fact about you.

Getting to know you

Reading & Listening

- 1 What does the title of the text mean? How would you start a conversation with someone you don't know? Read and check.

Breaking the ice

It's that time of year again and you're back at school. The new girl in your class seems very interesting and you would like to get to know her better. Unfortunately, what usually happens whenever the opportunity to talk to someone comes up, is that you can't think of anything to say. Your palms sweat, you blush, and you look away.

Whether you are starting a new school, going to a party where you don't know anyone or want to approach a person you fancy, you often need to break the ice in order to start a friendly conversation. Breaking the ice means saying or doing something to stop feeling shy or uncomfortable around someone you don't know very well. The reason you feel this way is that you don't know how the other person will react. Don't let it get you down, though.

You shouldn't worry. Almost everyone feels uncomfortable when they meet someone for the first time. If you feel this way, the following tips can help you out.

☺ Smile: When you smile, people think you are friendly and easy to talk to. They are also very likely to smile back and help you feel more comfortable about starting a conversation.

☺ Be positive: Everybody likes being around happy people. Try to always look on the bright side of life and to see something positive even in negative situations. People will enjoy your positive energy and benefit from it. Also, be confident. If you like yourself, others will probably like you too.

☺ Be a good listener: Develop listening skills. Don't take over the conversation and don't just talk about yourself. Ask other people questions about themselves too. This way they'll know you're interested in them.

☺ Be sociable: Don't avoid being around new people just because you feel uncomfortable. If you face a situation again and again, you'll get used to it. It's not easy, but it's worth it. After all, the other person may want to talk to you as well – but may be too shy to break the ice!

- 2 Read and listen to the text and mark the sentences (1-6), T (true) or F (false). Correct the false sentences. Explain the words in bold.

- 1 Breaking the ice means saying or doing something to start feeling relaxed with a new person.
- 2 People feel uncomfortable when meeting someone new because they cannot predict their reactions.
- 3 When you meet someone for the first time, it's better to look serious.
- 4 Confident people have positive feelings.
- 5 When you start a conversation, talk a lot about yourself.
- 6 If you feel uncomfortable meeting new people, you should avoid it.

Socialising in the UK

1 Read the title of the text and the headings under the pictures. What do you think people in the UK do in these situations? Listen and read to find out.

Social Etiquette in the UK

The British are famous for their language, sense of humour and, of course, politeness. So, when you are in the UK, make sure you respect social etiquette in the following situations:

British people are quite reserved when greeting one another. A handshake is the most common form of greeting when you meet someone for the first time. It is only when you greet close friends or relatives that you would kiss them on the cheek or give them a hug. The British may also call you by many different 'affectionate' names, such as dear, chuck, mate, gov, son or love. Do not be offended, this is quite normal.

The British like their privacy, so not all topics are safe for small talk. Avoid asking people about their age, religion, politics, marital status, weight or how much they earn. Instead, acceptable small talk topics are family, films, television, sport, studies, food, hobbies and of course, the weather!

When you visit people at home, make sure you are on time. It's also nice to take a gift for your hosts, such as a bunch of flowers or a box of chocolates. A British person might say 'come and see me soon' or 'drop in any time'. However, you must always phone before you visit someone.

Making small talk

Visiting people at home

2 Read the text and answer the questions.

- 1 How do the British greet someone for the first time?
- 2 How do they greet friends and relatives?
- 3 What is a good way to start a conversation with a British person?
- 4 What should you do when you visit a British person?
- 5 What topics should you avoid when you have a casual conversation with British people?

3 Explain the words/phrases in bold. Use some to complete the sentences.

- 1 You mustn't be rude to your teachers. You should them.
- 2 Lucy said goodnight to her parents, and then went to bed.
- 3 Being impolite to others is not behaviour.
- 4 Apart from the, he didn't know anyone at the party.
- 5 She kissed her daughter before she left for work.

Mary: Have you got any brothers or sisters?

Harry: One sister. And you?

Mary: I'm an only child.

Harry: I see. How old are you?

Mary: I turn sixteen next May.

Harry: That makes us the same age.

Mary: Great! Maybe we'll be in the same class together at school.

Dealing with CONFLICT

Losing friends is about as easy as making friends if you don't know how to deal with anger and conflict¹. Conflict is part of everyone's life. It will show up at school, at work and at home. It's OK to feel angry, frustrated, annoyed, disappointed or sad. These feelings are natural, but it's how you deal with them that makes the difference. Some people scream, shout, swear², call people names, try to get back at or even hit the person who has hurt them. Others do their best to keep away from disagreements but very few deal with conflict successfully.

Resolving conflict is a step by step process. Before you start discussing the problem, cool off, count to 10, take a deep breath and imagine a relaxing place. Then, say what's really bothering you, but watch how you express yourself. Don't blame or accuse. Share how you feel by using "I" statements. For example, don't say "You are always bossing me around," but "I feel frustrated because you don't pay attention to what I think."

You want people to hear your opinion so make sure you practise what you preach³. Listen carefully to the other person and accept that he or she might see the problem in a different way. Be flexible and open-minded, willing to apologise, forgive and move on.

- 2 Read and listen to the text and answer the questions.

- How can someone lose a friend?
- Where might you come into conflict with people?
- How can people deal with conflict? Name three ways.
- What should you do before beginning to resolve a conflict?

- 3 Match the words/phrases in bold to their synonyms. finding a solution, appear, angry, order around, discouraged, hold responsible, willing to change, course of action

- 4 THINK! Change the following 'you' statements into 'I feel + adjective' statements. Use the following words:

• sad • angry • disappointed • bad

- You never want to hang out with me any more!
▶ I feel bad because we don't hang out any more.

Acid Rain

The problem
The problem starts here. Cars burn petrol and factories and power stations burn coal and emit toxic fumes. So, the air that we breathe becomes polluted.

Air pollution & acid rain
The pollution is gathered in clouds and when it reacts with the oxygen and water in the atmosphere it becomes acid. The winds carry the polluted clouds long distances. When it rains, this pollution falls on trees, houses, buildings, cars, clothes, everywhere! This is called acid rain.

Water and soil pollution
When acid rain falls into lakes, streams, rivers and seas, they become toxic. This is water pollution and it harms or kills fish and plants. When acid rain flows through the soil, it poisons trees and plants.

Solutions
We all need air to survive. One way to make the air cleaner is to drive less. We can use public transport or ride our bikes as much as possible. We can also use less electricity. For example, we can turn off the lights when we leave a room. Factories can use new technologies to help make factory smoke less harmful to the environment. We all need to work together to stop this problem before it is too late!

2 In which film does Johnny Depp play someone who:

factory (n): a building where products are made e.g. Bridget works in a factory making shoes.

Which of these characters does Johnny Depp play in a movie who works in a factory?

- In Edward Scissorhands (1999), Depp plays a shy and very lonely man who has scissors instead of hands. He looks quite frightening with his thin purple lips, pale skin and messy black hair. Still, he is one of the most lovable characters you will ever meet!
- The Pirates of the Caribbean Trilogy (2003-2007) magically transforms Depp into Captain Jack Sparrow, the cunning but likeable captain of a pirate ship. Sparrow is probably the most famous character that Depp has played. He has a beard, a moustache and long hair, and he wears a headscarf. Captain Sparrow is just as nutty as Edward, but a lot funnier, and braver, too.
- In Charlie and the Chocolate Factory (2005), Depp plays Willy Wonka, the owner of a chocolate factory and inventor of many crazy and wonderful inventions. Wonka is intelligent and sociable, but it eventually becomes clear that he is not as charming as he first appears!

4 In groups, make your own food chain. Draw a diagram and add pictures and labels.

sunlight grass grasshopper frog snake owl

Grass uses energy from the sun to produce its own food. The grasshopper eats the grass. Then, the frog eats the grasshopper. After that, a bigger animal such as a snake eats the frog which is then eaten by an owl. When an animal dies decomposers break it down and return it to the soil. Then the food chain starts all over again.
